

Gifts to the Research Library of Tomsk State University

Gift or transfer of documents at no cost to the library are important sources of library collections replenishment.

Organisations and individuals donate documents in Russian and other languages by single items, personal libraries, and whole collections.

The decision whether a document can be added to the library stock is based on information about availability of similar editions and the items (collections) significance.

If the library agrees to receive the gift, it is delivered personally or by post.

Information about the most valuable donations is published on the TSU RL website. If the donator wishes, the items are marked (sealed) with the donator's name.

The Research Library of Tomsk State University thanks all donators participating in the formation of the library stock.
